

Application for Biology 101 Intern (Biology 291)

Date: _____

All registrations will be done by the Biology Department adding the course to your schedule after you have completed your registration. Be sure that you are under 17 hours or have permission for an overload so that we can register you. Assume that you will be participating even if the registration you receive in the mail does not show Biology 291. Check your schedule on the web or see Barbara Stegenga or the undergrad registrar (213) if you are uncertain of your registration. You may not receive notice of the scheduling meeting the day before classes begin.

Will you have to have permission for an overload to enable us to register you for an additional course? _____
If these hours take you to 18 hours, we will be unable to register you without your getting permission from your dean.

For FALL, SPRING, SUMMER SESSION I or SUMMER SESSION II? (Circle one). A separate form is needed for each.

Semester in Biology 101, grade, and TA (or how did you place out of Biology 101)? Please attach a copy of your grades from the web or transcript (does not have to be an official one.)

Please return this form to Barbara Stegenga in 211 Coker Hall. (Tear off reminder below)

You should receive an email telling you of the scheduling meeting. This meeting is generally mid-day on the day before classes begin. You may not receive any additional notice of the first meeting and will know that you have been accepted for Biology 291 by its appearance on your schedule on the web.
