

How to add a Biology 101 Lab

If you are trying to add a lab for the spring semester, you can do the following things to increase your chances of getting into a lab:

1. Keep looking on Connect Carolina to see if seats open up.
2. Wait until the semester begins and look on Connect Carolina for openings. Many students will rearrange their schedules then and possibly drop their lab.
3. Come to a lab that fits your schedule the week they begin (January 23-27) and we will see if there are any seats available for you to add.

If you are unable to add a lab, you can always take the lab another semester. Lab is not a co-requisite with lecture. Lecture and lab can be taken in different semesters.
